

Investor Outreach Sequence

CONFIDENTIAL — PRE-SEED FUNDRAISING MATERIALS

Best Starting Path

Start with:

1. friendly angels and operators
2. angels with SaaS, CRM, operations, or distribution background
3. selected micro-VCs interested in vertical AI or workflow software
4. only later, larger institutional firms

4-Step Sequence

Step 1: Warm Mapping

Build the first list from:

- founders you know
- operators in distribution and wholesale
- angels who like workflow software
- investors already talking about vertical AI, systems of action, self-hosted infra, or emerging-market B2B

Do not start with random cold blasts.

Step 2: Short Intro Ask

Best initial ask:

I'm not running a broad process yet. I'm pressure-testing a narrow wedge and looking for a few smart early conversations.

That lowers pressure and gets more responses.

Step 3: 15-Minute Meeting

Structure:

1. painful workflow
2. why incumbents fail here
3. short demo
4. wedge and GTM

5. what proof you are building next

Step 4: Follow-Up

Send:

- the one-pager
- one screenshot or short Loom
- design-partner progress
- one clear next milestone

Cold Investor Email

Subject:

Vertical AI workflow wedge in WhatsApp-first distribution

Body:

Hi [Name],

I'm building an AI operating CRM for distributors and wholesalers in WhatsApp-first markets.

The product starts with one workflow: inbound inquiry -> quote/proforma draft -> follow-up -> deal progression -> collections follow-through.

The thesis is that legacy CRMs are systems of record, but this category needs a controlled system of action with self-hosting and auditability built in.

I'm at the design-partner stage and speaking with a small number of angels and micro-VCs who understand vertical AI and workflow software.

If that is in your strike zone, I'd love to send a one-pager or show a short demo.

Best,

[Your Name]

Follow-Up Email After First Meeting

Subject:

Thanks + next milestone

Body:

Thanks again for the time.

The key thing we are testing now is whether distributors and wholesalers will buy this wedge even if they keep their current CRM.

Over the next [X] weeks we are focused on signing [3-5] design partners and measuring response-time, quote-turnaround, and follow-up ROI.

Attached is the one-pager. Happy to keep you updated as the proof package develops.

What To Avoid

- sending a huge deck cold
- saying you are replacing Salesforce
- leading with feature inventory
- overclaiming autonomy
- pitching too many customer segments at once

What Good Investor Interest Looks Like

- they quickly understand the wedge
- they ask about proof and ROI, not just features
- they introduce design partners or relevant operators
- they want updates after the next milestone, even if they do not invest immediately
